It is seen in confident learners, compassionate leaders, critical thinkers, and responsible citizens. Our students leave with the skills, values, and mindset needed to thrive in an ever-changing world. True success, we believe, lies in leading purposeful lives and making a positive difference in society.*

I am an Indian cultural and portrait artist, deeply rooted in tradition while constantly exploring contemporary expression. Their mentorship created a space where talent was recognised, nurtured, and guided with care.

One moment remains especially significant to me. While collecting my Transfer Certificate, I was advised to pursue a path aligned with my skills—perhaps fashion or another creative discipline. That encouragement became a turning point, giving me the confidence to make thoughtful decisions about my education and career.

*Today, as I represent Indian art and culture internationally and contribute to promoting Indian artistic traditions in China, I carry those early lessons with me. PRASHANTH KUMAR GATHALA
Alumnus | Class 3 to Class 10

Educator, Department of Science – Physics Specialist Nord Anglia Education, China
Rooted in St. Ann's

I grew up at St. Ann's. From Class 3 to Class 10, this was more than a school to me—it was where my character was shaped, my thinking was challenged, and my values were quietly but firmly built.

I owe a deep debt of gratitude to Smt. Vasundara garu, who taught us science but gave me much more than a subject. She sparked my curiosity, believed in my ability, and inspired me to choose science—not just as a stream, but as a way of thinking. Today, as a science teacher at a world-renowned British state-owned institution in China, I see her influence in the way I teach, question, and guide my students.

Equally impactful was Mr. Kuntloor Venkatesh Goud, whose lessons in social studies extended far beyond textbooks. He taught us how to be grounded, responsible, and socially aware—to be solid human beings. Those lessons pushed me to explore the world with openness and respect, travelling across China, Hong Kong, Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore, Nepal, Tanzania, and beyond.

For the past ten years, I have been living and working in China with my lovely wife and our two children, a journey that continues to shape both my personal and professional life. Despite the distance, my connection to St. Ann's has never faded. I am proud to be a neighbour of the school premises and an active participant in school activities, staying closely connected to the institution that gave me my foundation.

After St. Ann's, I completed my engineering at CVR College and went on to pursue my postgraduate studies at the University of Nottingham, UK. Yet, the moral compass I carry—loyalty, honesty, and humanity—was set much earlier, within these walls.

I continue to learn, grow, and travel, but St. Ann's will always be where I became who I am.

Once a St. Ann's student, always a St. Ann's student.
